Most Individuals Paying More Than Fair Share of Taxes

Editor The Star: I have been reading your editorials about reassessing the taxes in Hempstead county for several years and I appreciate your concern in this matter.

I am a small farmer who was forced to go to public working to earn a living and send a child to college.

Wouldn't it be fairer to the property owners of the State of Arkansas to levy a school tax on the money that public welfare earners so they would pay their fair share of money to school their children?

I believe Pennsylvania has a tax similar to this.

WILEY DILLARD

March 18, 1971
Saratoga, Ark.

I appreciate Mr. Dillard's self-sacrificing offer—but it hardly solves the problem of reassessment of property for ad valorem tax purposes on which this newspaper has been campaigning for a generation.

In the first place, public workers are paid out of tax funds—therefore putting a special tax on them would be merely piling tax upon tax. What we are trying to do is to equalize taxes—not compound them.

What's been happening ever since Arkansas repealed the 18-mill ceiling on school taxes is, we have steadily increased the millage rate and no longer policed the property assessing level, which is the base against which the millage tax is levied.

Each time we increased the millage rate the assessing base declined, and the lack of sufficient dollar return required still another millage hike.

Back in the 1950s I was a member of the late Gov. Cherry's State Committee of 25 which drafted the proposed 100 Per Cent Assessment Constitutional Amendment—something I still believe in. The State Association of County Tax Assessors compelled Gov. Cherry to abandon the proposal—but since then Florida has written into its constitution an identical proposal.

I was the author of the clause that infuriated the county assessors, proposing to change their office from elective to appointive—hired on a long-term contract by the other elective officials of the county, taking politics out of the county assessor's office.

The 100 per cent assessment measure was misunderstood. It provided that as assessments were raised the millage was lowered in the same proportion, and the property owner's dollar tax bill remained unchanged.

This is exactly what has happened in Florida, and I have seen Florida individual tax receipts showing that the dollar tax bill did remain unchanged.

The great benefit of the measure Arkansas rejected but Florida adapted is that it forced all real property to be placed on the assessment books, automatically increasing the public tax dollars that were collected. Any extra tax had to be voted by the people. But in view of the 100 per cent assessment law the rate of millage increases fell off sharply.

Today, with Hope's 40-mill school tax compared to the original 18 mills our reassessment program is made doubly difficult.

But it has to be done.

This newspaper is going to fight all millage rises for the schools until school folks agree to resume policing of assessments, which they used to do when there was a ceiling of 18 mills.

4 Year Term $1 Million Worth of Issue Fails in House

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas House failed Thursday to approve a proposed constitutional amendment that would establish four-year terms and higher salaries for the state's seven constitutional officers.

Defeated on a vote of 49-24, two short of approval, after three favorable votes were discounted during a poll of the House, the amendment remained alive for further consideration when Rep. George Davis of Horatio gave notice that he might seek another vote.

In other legislative action: — The House approved a measure opposed by labor that would remove women hospital employees from coverage by the state wage and hour provisions.

— The House passed 81-4 a bill that would give salary increases of 6 per cent to state employees in the first 19 grades of the state compensation plan when they are promoted to the next grade. The employees were scheduled to receive increments of 5 per cent.

— The Senate approved 31-0 a bill to grant the Arkansas Arts Center $60,000 in state revenue. The proposal providing new terms and salaries for constitutional officers would be one of three proposed constitutional amendments that the legislature is to submit to the voters in the 1972 general election. Already approved by the legislature are proposals to lower the state voting age from 21 to 18 and to rewrite the legislative article of the 1874 Constitution.

The Senate had passed the salary - and four-year-term amendment previously with an additional provision that county officials also get four terms. The House had amended the proposal to also provide four-year terms for state representatives.

Double Talk Is Art of Saying One Thing and Thinking the Opposite

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — We haven't had a drill in double talk lately, have we?

Well, then, let's have one right now. Double talk, you should remember, is the art of saying one thing while thinking something else—usually the direct opposite.

That sounds a bit schizophrenic but really isn't. It enables you keep mentally healthy in a world in which, if you always spoke the exact truth, everyone would shun you as being either barmy or too quaint to put up with.

To show you typical double talk in action, here are a few examples. What the person said is put in quotes, followed by what he actually was thinking.

"What a pleasant surprise! I didn't even think you'd remember it was my birthday." — And if that's all you could find to give me, I wish you had forgotten it.

"I guess you must have the flu—there's a lot of it going around." There are a lot of hangovers going around, too, and it looks like you've got the granddaddy of them all.

"Everybody's got his troubles." — So don't try to lend me yours.

"Well, this one is strictly off the top of my head and I'm only throwing it in for openers, but why don't we—" I wonder if anybody will notice this is the only idea I had at our last conference, too.

"I'll say one thing I admire about you, Jones, you're always on your toes." And I'll say one thing I don't admire about you, Jones—your toes always seem

Weapons Cost Overruns $33.4 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — A General Accounting Office study due for release today shows cost overruns for 61 weapons systems so far total $33.4 billion or an average of $500 million apiece, according to The Washington Post.

About $9.5 billion of the increase took place even before production began, between first Pentagon estimates given to Congress and later estimates after preliminary designs were completed, the Post reported in today's editions.

The largest overruns cited by the GAO were $3 billion for the Navy's Mark 48 torpedo and $2.9 billion for the Air Force's Minuteman III missile, the Post said.

The report blames overruns on "deliberate underestimating" as well as unanticipated development difficulties, faulty planning, poor management, bad estimating and inflation. It estimates the Pentagon's weapons-buying has improved in recent months, the Post said.

The Post said it obtained an advance copy of the 84-page report, "Acquisition of Major Weapons Systems."

Could Be the Last Taste of Winter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hopefully, Arkansas will get its last and very brief taste of winter-like weather.

The National Weather Service is predicting colder temperatures and high winds through this weekend. But, the service is predicting a warming trend beginning this weekend.

The colder temperatures are the result of a front which moved through the state causing showers and thundershowers, before plunging temperatures.

The highs Thursday ranged from 58 at Harrison to 68 at Fort Smith. Overnight lows were Fayetteville, 29; Harrison, 30; Jonesboro, 38; Pine Bluff 35; Texarkana, 38; El Dorado, 36; Memphis, 39; Little Rock, 37; and Fort Smith, 33.

Precipitation recorded during the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a.m. today included .01 of an inch of rain at Fayetteville and Harrison; .12 at Jonesboro; .73 at Pine Bluff; .07 at Texarkana; .23 at El Dorado; .32 at Memphis and .13 at Little Rock.

House Rejects SST; Senate Yet to Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee voted 17 to 5 today to restore full funding for a federally subsidized supersonic transport plane.

The committee vote, which was counter to Thursday's vote in the House eliminating SST spending, was denounced by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who said he will campaign to make sure the full Senate goes along with the House view.

But two committee members, Sen. Hiram Fong, R-Hawaii, and Gale McGee, D-Wyo., changed positions from last year voting for the SST appropriation.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, also changed position to vote for SST spending but told newsmen this does not necessarily indicate what position she will take when the appropriation comes to a vote on the Senate floor.

Earlier today Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said that if the Senate agrees with the House and refuses more money for the SST "that ought to be the end of it."

And Republican Leader Hugh Scott said the White House would have to "take a brand new look" at the whole issue.

Still to be heard from is the Senate. But that chamber moved last year to cut off government SST money, and a reaffirmation of that position in a vote which probably will come next week, will end federal financing March 30.

Since it is generally agreed the depressed aviation industry could not afford to finance SST development, continued work on a U.S. model would hinge on the Nixon administration's emergency alternative financing plans. These have not been spelled out but are said to include a bond issue approach rejected by the White House two years ago.

Meanwhile, the Senate took up today a bill offered by SST backers in an effort to woo support for the plane. The proposal would ban sonic booms over the United States, answering a major objection to the 1,800-mile-an-hour plane.

And the Senate Appropriations Committee called a closed session to consider the $290-million administration SST request the House voted down Thursday.

Acting on an amendment by Rep. Sidney Yates, D-Ill., the House eliminated the money in a nonrecord 218-204 vote, then made it final on a 215-204 roll call.

"The House vote is great news for those of us who have been fighting the supersonic transport," said Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis. "It is possible that the House vote will give us just the advantage we need to win."

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., in whose state the Boeing Co. would build the 298-passenger plane, called the House defeat "a very unfortunate trend in development against science and technology as a whole."

Opponents argued economy and ecology.

Some Ports Ban SST Traffic

MILWAUKEE (AP) — While congressmen were voting Thursday to end federal spending for a supersonic transport, Milwaukee County officials recommended a ban on any SST traffic at the county's Mitchell Field.

"I think it is important that local governments be heard from in one form or another," Fred Tabak, member of the county's Board of Supervisors, said in support of a committee's recommendation for an anti-SST ordinance.

Supervisor Ted Wedemeyer said his constituents were complaining increasingly about aircraft noise at the airport, adding: "I wish they could bring the old streetcars back."

Evidence Shows That Russia Still Hopeful for Overthrow of Mao

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The revival of name-calling between Moscow and Peking is evidence that the Kremlin still harbors hopes of seeing Mao Tse-tung's regime overthrown. The new blasts also seem connected with Soviet-Chinese policy conflicts in Asia.

The ideological war of words had been muted since 1969, although Peking made it plain that the dispute was irreconcilable.

Why the revival now? For one thing, in less than two weeks the Soviet Communist party will open its 24th Congress. The China question probably will be on the agenda, as it was five years ago at the 23rd Congress.

The Soviets also may have

FTC Market Power Before High Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission's power to stop marketing practices simply by ruling they are unfair competition is on the line in the Supreme Court.

The case involves the nation's biggest trading stamp company, Sperry & Hutchinson, and a ruling against the FTC by the federal appeals court in New Orleans.

Should the commission lose on appeal, it will be a much less potent watchdog.

The case began in 1967 when the FTC decided to crack down on Sperry & Hutchinson's restrictions on the exchange of S&H Green Stamps.

The stamps, collected in more than 35 million American households, can be exchanged for merchandise only at the 850 S&H redemption centers.

This rule helps the company and makes the stamps valuable for the retailers who bought 140 billion of them for $322,296,000 in 1964 alone.

The commission, however, had several questions:

What about the housewife who collects various stamps at a variety of stores? Shouldn't she be allowed to trade one kind for another?

And what about the retailer who is willing to give merchandise

Living Cost Shows Slight Increase

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today what the White House called "encouraging news" for consumers, a two-tenths increase in the cost of living last month.

It follows January's increase of one-tenth of one per cent, and remains below the monthly increases of from three-tenths to six-tenths of one per cent that prevailed for all but one month of last year. Last August the increase also was two-tenths of one per cent.

"This is good news," Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson said at the White House. "This is encouraging news," White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said.

"We still think we've got the economy headed in the right direction," Hodgson said, predicting further improvements later in the year.

The two-month increase of three-tenths of one per cent was the smallest since February and March of 1967, when prices rose by one-tenth and two-tenths of one per cent respectively.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, issuing the monthly report, attributed the February increase to higher food prices and increases in cost of apparel and most consumer services. These were moderated by declines in mortgage interest rates and prices of used cars and gasoline.

The February increase means it cost $119.40 to buy what $100 did in 1967.

Panel Sought to Probe Pope County Issue

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Prosecutor Alex G. Streett of Russellville has asked the state Supreme Court to appoint a special judge to mepanel a Grand Jury in Pope County to investigate the charging of costs in some felony cases under Circuit Judge Russell C. Roberts.

Streett sent a petition to the Supreme Court Thursday asking for the special judge, but Jimmy H. Hawkins, clerk of the court, said the document did not meet the requirements for filing.

Hawkins accepted the petition, marked it "tendered for filing" and dated it. He said the petition was not formally filed because it did not have a "certificate of service" to show that a copy of the petition had been sent to Roberts. Streett said later Thursday that he would mail a copy of the petition to Roberts.

Hawkins said that Roberts would have 10 days in which to respond after the petition is filed.

In the petition, Streett said it would not be proper for the "incumbent judge to preside when the Grand Jury would be inquiring into his activities."

Last December the state Supreme Court declared illegal the practice of assessing fees against accused persons for spending their sentences or dismissing the charges against them. The practice of assessing fees was initiated in 1963 by the late Circuit Judge Wiley Bean and was continued by Roberts when he was appointed in 1965.

Bean had established a fee of $37.50, but Roberts increased it to $120. Roberts got not part of the fees, but the deputy prosecutor received $50, the sheriff $25, the court clerk $25 and the court reporter $20.

Egypt Fires on Israeli Aircraft

CAIRO (AP) — Egyptian anti-aircraft guns opened fire on Israeli planes this morning for the first time since the Middle East cease-fire began last summer, the official Middle East News Agency reported.

The two Israeli planes—identified as Phantom jets—apparently were not hit. The agency said the two aircraft intruded over Egyptian positions at Port Fuad at the northern end of the Suez Canal.

When the Egyptians opened fire the two planes veered eastward back over Israeli-held territory, east of the canal, the agency said.

The cease-fire ended March 7.

The agency said Egypt has notified the United Nations observers team of the incident.

Tips on How to Lose a Freight Car

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Losing a railroad freight car is easy. Finding it is tougher, especially when it's been re-routed, repainted and given a fake serial number.

The Penn Central, America's largest railroad, reorganizing under the federal bankruptcy laws because it lost money while hauling people and goods, now reports it also lost freight cars.

At least 277, worth more than $1 million.

The FBI and the Federal Task Force on Organized Crime are investigating the mysterious disappearance—and how the cars, bearing new colors and new identities, turned up as the alleged property of the La Salle & Bureau County Railroad, a 15-mile-long line in Northern Illinois. No charges have been filed.

Here's how freight cars can go astray:

There are more than two million freight cars in the United States and they all move in a common pool, carrying raw materials and finished goods around the nation over some 220,000 miles of track operated by nearly 800 companies. Penn Central has 180,000 cars and 20 per cent of the trackage.

The problem is that the cars of all railroads operate on the lines of all railroads. It is the duty of the line whose tracks are being used to keep track of all cars that it is hauling, whether they are its own or others.

Thus Penn Central, for instance, is responsible for a car of another railroad that travels its tracks, and collects rent for that car's ride.

The return trip sometimes takes days. More often it is weeks or months. A car might not come back to the owner railroad until it has been loaded and unloaded a dozen times or more.

Some Think of Mills as Candidate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Despite statements by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., that he is not a candidate for president or vice president, several politically astute individuals in Little Rock and in Washington say they believe the congressman's name will appear on the New Hampshire primary ballot.

Mills, chairman of the powerful Ways and Means Committee, has professed no ambition for either of the higher offices. However, some Arkansas political sources attach some credibility to reports that he is interested and base their opinion primarily on the Arkansas Legislature's approval of Senate Bill 280.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. J. A. Womack of Camden, amended Arkansas election law to permit a candidate for the U.S. House or Senate to be on the ballot at the same time as a candidate for president or vice president.

Womack said the proposal originated in Washington. He would not say the bill was designed by Mills, but he once called the measure "Wilbur's bill" on the Senate floor.

Womack said Arkansians who were friends of Mills and other members of the Arkansas congressional delegation delivered the bill to him. Although the bill would apply to all members of the delegation, speculation has focused almost exclusively on Mills.

Some newspaper articles have said that influential friends of Mills plan to have his name placed on the New Hampshire primary ballot, probably as a vice presidential candidate.

Mills, told of such a report, laughed and said, "I am not a candidate." However, he has not said he would attempt to thwart any group interested in promoting consideration of him as possible candidate for higher office.

Mills has told the Washington press that "if it takes it" to defeat a certain man — presumably President Nixon — the congressman would consider seeking an office he didn't really want as a means of defeating an opponent.

The remark has been interpreted to mean that Mills would consent to seek the vice presidency if differences between himself and Nixon don't cool. Currently, their most vocal difference is over Nixon's proposed revenue-sharing plan, which Mills flatly opposes.

The sources said that most Democrats and many Republicans believe Nixon would have great difficulty in capturing a majority of the votes in the South and parts of the Southwest and Midwest if Mills were a candidate.

The speculation about a possible candidacy by Mills falls into three basic categories, listed here in the order of the frequency with which they were mentioned:

— That Mills has insinuated or permitted the prospect of a candidacy on his part as a means of getting Nixon to abandon the President's current revenue sharing concept.

— That Mills seriously intends to offer himself for nationwide office.

— That Mills is screening for someone else, perhaps even Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark.

Friends of Mills indicated, however, that they had not heard any report that the congressman might have endorsed the bill that became Act 224 as an aid to any possible candidacy by Pryor.

"There's something in there somewhere, but nobody's sure what," one Washington source said. "Someone told me the other day that this had all been worked out, and that Mills had an agreement with (former Vice President Hubert) Humphrey."

The source said Washington was abuzz with rumors about Mills and added, "Up here, the power of Mills is awesome, the mystique that attends him is awesome and that the President would defy him is awesome."

been linked by Premier Chou En-lai's recent visit to North Vietnam, where he promised more help in the Indochina war.

Moscow has bridled at Peking's attitude that Asia is an Asian affair and that the Russians are not Asians. Moscow seems to be goading the Maoist regime, perhaps guessing that Peking wants to be prudent in its attitude toward a possible armed clash with the United States.

This week's blasts from Moscow and Peking sounded as harsh as any barrage in recent years. China called the Soviet leaders "the worst enemies of the workers—wolves in sheep's clothing," and Moscow accused the Peking leaders of plotting to collaborate with the United States.

That Soviet accusation is far from new. Its use at this time is indicative of the important place the China matter will have when Communist leaders gather to hear Moscow's views.

Before the Congress five years ago the Russians also were accusing Peking of planning to collude with the Americans. If the charge impresses foreign Communists or shocks them, that would be of value to Moscow.

dise for the stamps though he isn't a Sperry & Hutchinson customer.

And the trading exchanges, mostly in Oklahoma and Texas, which for a fee would exchange one kind of trading stamp for another?

The FTC decided they were victims of unfair competition. It ordered Sperry & Hutchinson to cease "attempting in any way to suppress or prevent the free and open redemption or exchange of trading stamps."

But the order was set aside last September by the U.S. Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Forty-three times state and federal courts had upheld Sperry & Hutchinson's methods. The commission could not point to any antitrust law which S&H had violated either in letter or spirit.

So the Appeals court panel ruled 2 to 1 the commission could not enforce its complaint.

The ruling's implication is that the FTC, in alleging an anti-competitive practice, would have to prove violation of antitrust law literally or in spirit.

The government says all kinds of merchandising techniques could go on unchecked, particularly the "negative option" device used by book and record clubs that ship monthly selections unless the customer notifies them not to.

The government's appeal said the ruling "constitutes a serious and unwarranted curtailment of the agency's broad power to act against all practices that may reasonably be deemed unfair or deceptive."

The high court has yet to make up its mind about hearing the appeal. So far, the ruling is law in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas, the six states served by the 5th Court of Appeals.

Companies seeking to combat FTC cease-and-desist orders nationwide could go to the 5th Court of Appeals in hopes of favorable action based on the S&H precedent, providing they do business in any of the six states.

This means the FTC is in major trouble unless the S&H ruling is heard, and reversed, by the Supreme Court.

Thousands Withdrawn From Laos

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese Command announced today that it has withdrawn between 2,000 and 3,000 of its troops from Laos in the past two days, leaving about 18,000 over the border.

Evidence mounted that the Saigon government is beginning to close out its campaign in Laos after nearly six weeks.

Some South Vietnamese units which were heavily engaged by the enemy were pulled back to South Vietnam. There have been no replacements Lt. Col. Tran Van An told newsmen at the Saigon command's daily briefing.

Some of Saigon's troops at the Ham Nghi forward headquarters were reported packing to return to rear headquarters. More than 100 empty trucks were assembled at Ham Nghi, and the troops were loading them with desks, beds and other supplies and furnishings.

Brig. Gen. Pham Van Phu, commander of the South Vietnamese 1st Infantry Division, said his entire 1st Regiment—about 1,500 men—had been pulled out of Laos after being cut up and demoralized by weeks of heavy North Vietnamese attacks.

Phu acknowledged to newsmen at Ham Nghi that nearly 300 men of the regiment had been killed or wounded in five days of fighting this week around Fire Base Lolo and Landing Zone Brown. Vietnamese sources in Saigon said another 200 troops are unaccounted for.

The general said his troops had completed three phases of the campaign, including a 2,000-man sweep of Highway 914, one of the key arteries of the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Vietnamese field officers said last week that the major portion of the drive into Laos, which began Feb. 8, would be concluded by the end of the month and the forces would be pulled back to the border.

Gen. Phu also confirmed that his forces had pulled out of Landing Zone Brown under heavy attack but there are still some troops "in the vicinity of Brown," 14 miles east of the Vietnamese border. He said this is now the most advanced South Vietnamese position in Laos.

The South Vietnamese had advanced by March 6 to Sepon, their main objective 25 miles from the border. But they began retreating a week later when two North Vietnamese regiments launched heavy counterattacks.

Sources at Ham Nghi said North Vietnamese gunners are pounding South Vietnamese bases still held between Brown and the border.

Phu said his division had been up against about 25,000 North Vietnamese and that about half of the enemy were killed, most of them by U.S. air strikes.

Armstrong's manager, Ira Mangel, said the musician-singer was feeling well last weekend but entered the hospital on order of physicians concerned over an edema condition.

Bond Veto Has Dismayed Legislators

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers' disapproval of the proposed highway construction bond issue dismayed some members of the Arkansas House, but there apparently will be no attempt to pass the bill over the governor's veto.

There was discussion by some representatives Thursday, however, of trying to override the veto simply to express the House's displeasure at the governor's action and then rescind from the vote.

Rep. Preston Bynum of Siloam Springs, chief architect of the bill, said there was enough strength in the House to pass the bill over the veto, but he said there was no point in trying.

The veto did "irreparable damage" to the chances that the voters would approve the $300 million bond issue in a special election May 18 that the bill would have authorized, Bynum said.

Although primarily the work of Bynum, the bill was sponsored in the House by the Roads and Highways Committee. Rep. John Miller of Melbourne, the committee chairman, said he did not plan to attempt to override the veto. He said it was unusual for a governor to veto a committee-sponsored bill.

Bynum said the veto surprised him because the governor had given no indication that he would disapprove the bill.

One of two Republicans in the House, Bynum said he thought one of the reasons for the veto was that if the bond issue were defeated Bumpers would feel "he suffered a political defeat, also."

Another reason, the representative said, was that the bond issue was not Bumpers' idea and therefore the credit for it would not accrue to him if the voters approved of it.

Bumpers said in his veto message that he thought the voters would be reluctant to approve the bond issue and that the $250,000 expense of the special election could be better used on other highway projects. Bynum claimed there was strong support for the issue.

Thursday after collapsing in his office from an apparent heart attack. He was 45.

Miller had been a member of the faculty since 1965. Survivors include his widow.

Models Display Latest in Fashion World

Before a background of forsythia, 25 models displayed the latest in styles at the Daffodil Garden Club's style show at the Hope Country Club on Thursday, March 18.

Miss Arkansas, Donna Connelly, and representatives from Ann's House of Fashion, Carmelita's House of Fashion, Ladies Specialty Shop, Lewis-McLarty, Inc., Mary's Fashions and Raley's Style Shoppe modeled the "long and short of it" in the world of fashions.

Mrs. Jim Lockhart furnished the clever commentary for the approach of models that included Mrs. Alvin Easterling, Mrs. Bob Nason, Mrs. David Wright, Mrs. John Burgess, Mrs. Tom Hays, Jr., Mrs. Mitch LaGrone, and Mrs. Ford Ward were among those showing clothes that ranged from pantsuits to gown and robe ensembles.

Mrs. Thompson Evans, Jr., Mrs. Clyde Fouse, Mrs. John Gambs, and Mrs. Don Mushtare paraded in splendor, as did Daffodil Garden Club President Mrs. Terrell Martin, Mrs. Jim James, Mrs. Mack McLarty, and Mrs. Melvin Thrash. Whether dressed for a formal occasion or a safari, models like Mrs. Bob Brown, Mrs. George Frazier, Mrs. John Graves, and Mrs. Charles Sharpe, Jr. were appropriately attired. The same is true of other models, Mrs. Marian Holder, Mrs. Danny Joyce, Mrs. John Leim, and Mrs. Jud Martindale.

Over 100 attended the annual spring festivity, and 10 received door prizes in a drawing. They were Mae Wassell, Rose Luck, Mary Arnold, Sheryl May, Mary Anita Laseter, Florence Rawson, Joyce Lockard, Sylvia Abbott, Marie Holt and Ruth Felder. Yellow and white narcissus centered each table where bridge was played at the conclusion of the style show. An assortment of delicious desserts was served with coffee as the guests arrived.

Warns Water Pollution Problem Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Transportation Department says the nation could be hit any day now with a major water-pollution disaster, for example the shutdown of a big city's water supply.

The department called for new federal authority to restrict discharges of hazardous substances into waterways; to collect unlimited costs of cleaning up dangerous spills; and to see that spill liability insurance is available, perhaps as a government program.

President Nixon sent the department's report to Congress as required by law Tuesday, but without his immediate endorsement. Additional study, he said, might require changes in the recommendations.

"Such modifications," he added, "would be incorporated in any legislation which is developed to implement the recommendations."

LETTERS SPEAK LOUDER THAN...

Dear Helen: How would you advise this woman? I am close to her off-spring, so I can't give my name.

Her husband works seven days a week, his second job being a hobby. He has no time, energy or money to socialize with his wife, though he spends on other pleasures. If some social thing links her with him, she must trail 12 paces behind while he is the life of the party.

He did manage to spend considerable money on a big family reunion that included an expensive picture with him in the center surrounded with pretty young things while his wife was dangling on the very edge of the group. The wife had her image blocked out in the reproduction as she says "it would remind her of her status in his life."

I feel she may be far out in resenting this "disrespect" from her husband. After all, she is an older woman and age has not enhanced her looks, while her husband continues to be charming, youthful and popular. True, she has contributed much to his success and has worked hard raising a good family, but isn't it enough that he stays with her?

Even his folks are aware of his sacrifices. They may not have invitations or room for her, but they don't close him off. They always have a bed waiting for him, and friends for him to meet if he needs feminine company. You'd think the wife would get the message that she has served her purpose and is passe.

Don't you think a definite break would be more dignified at her age than what many women do: Turn to drink, drugs, or "bought" affairs? She has no vices, so her only fault is her age and plainness. Of course her attempts at communication are called nagging. Your suggestions, please.—A FRIEND

Dear "Friend": You are "close to this woman's offspring" because you ARE this woman, as another letter (signed "Second Class Citizen") proves. It came in the same mailbag, carried the same commemorative stamp and postmark; was written on the same stationery with the same typewriter. And through it ran the same thread of deep self-pity, though this time, first person. Look, my friend, injustice collectors always find what they

Page Three seek because their actions make people shun them. While you see yourself as the poor, "old" worn-out, cast-aside slavey who "has no faults but age and plainness," others may see you a jealous, holler-than thou type who makes life miserable for everyone around her.

Trying to drum up advice column sympathy won't help your cause, nor will it "shame" your husband. Perhaps you have a case: I've no doubt you ARE neglected and avoided, but until you get honest and admit you bring much of this on yourself, you'll keep on drowning in crocodile tears.

My suggestion? See a good psychotherapist and don't hit him with the con job you tried to pull on me.—H. Dear Helen:

Two years ago we bought a car from a used-car lot. The dealer guaranteed it for 90 days, but it didn't last that long. First the transmission wouldn't hold fluid and then the motor blew. We refused to pay for the car when the dealer refused to fix it. So we parked it. He never repossessed it.

Recently a finance company (who bought the dealer's papers) has started dunning us. After two years, can they collect?—NO MONEY

Dear No: You should have "parked" the car on the dealer's doorstep two years ago. Since a finance company now has his papers, you may face a losing battle. Consult the Legal Aid Society in your city.—H.

Golf, Track Teams in Action

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Golf time is here again and the HHS golfers are about ready to begin.

Already there are seven golf matches with a possibility of scheduling more. Hope will tangle with Magnolia today, in the opening season match.

Last year, Hope won both matches with Magnolia, after a dismal 69 year of 0-2 against the Panthers. Magnolia's only returning letterman is Allen Barge.

This year's Hope High team includes, Jack Turner, Jimmy Pruden, Jerry Pruden, Tim Hogan, Randy Wright, Joe Fouse, Tim Gunter, and Steve Shoemaker.

The Golfers will be trying to better a record of 315 strokes, set by last year team.

Moving to track, the HHS track team travels to Camden today.

Hope has already been to one meet, and it brought out a new school record for the discuss, by Lynn Norton.

Others included in the meet for Hope should be Steve Harris and Ray Wheelington in the hurdles. Charles Frazier will probably be in the broad jump and high jump, and David Johnson should run the 220 yard dash and relay team.

Hope didn't finish far up in the first meet, but should continue to improve during the season.

Gil Perreault Has to Be Respected

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gil Perreault of the Buffalo Sabres gave additional notice he is to be respected, with a record-setting goal and the Boston Bruins continue on their merry, record-setting countdown in the National Hockey League.

Perreault Thursday night slapped a second-period rebound into the St. Louis Blues' net for his 35th rookie goal to snap the record held by three former first-year NHL players. The Sabres won 5-3.

He later assisted on Dick Duff's goal to give him 63 points for the season, two under the rookie record.

The Bruins stopped the Detroit Red Wings 7-3 to cut the margin to two in games they must remain unbeaten at home to set a new NHL mark. It has been 26 games since Boston was defeated on its own ice.

In other NHL games, Montreal downed Toronto 4-1, Philadelphia edged New York 2-1, and Los Angeles nipped Chicago 3-2.

Eddie Shack, Red Fleming, Perreault and Duff added scores to Don Marshall's first-period goal in Buffalo's victory. St. Louis got goals from Wayne Connelly, Gary Unger and Fran Clark.

Johnny McKenzie's hat trick and Phil Esposito's 63rd and 64th goals of the season led Boston's assault on Detroit. It was the Bruins' 12th straight victory. Wayne Carleton and Ken Hodge scored the other goals for the Bruins while Mike Rabbittale, Alex Delvecchio and Guy Charron scored for the Red Wings.

Frank Mahovlich scored twice leading the Montreal victory. Phil Roberto and Guy Lapointe also scored for the Canadiens while Dave Keon tallied the lone Toronto goal.

Philadelphia surprised New York with a strong defense despite the absence of its top goalie Doug Favell, who was injured Wednesday. Chris Schmitz gave the Flyers the lead after just 14 seconds with a 13th goal of the year. Goalie Bruce Gamble held off the Rangers until Walt Tkaczuk scored late in the final period.

Bobby Clarke came back as the winning goal just 28 seconds later.

Los Angeles' Mike Byers took a pass from Juhla Widing to score the winning goal against the Kings. The score in the third period followed earlier Kings' goals by Ralph Backstrom and Bobby Clarke.

Sparky Anderson, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, heaved a sigh of relief today.

Johnny Bench, his star catcher and the Most Valuable Player in the National League last season, won't miss the opening game of the 1971 major league baseball season after all.

Bench, who walloped 45 homers and drove in 148 runs in leading the R the 1970 NL pennant, suffered a three-inch gash in his right shin in an exhibition game against Boston Thursday.

Ten stitches were needed to close the gash and it was feared the husky MVP would miss Cincinnati's opening game against Atlanta on April 5.

"It's not cut in a spot that would hinder his movement," Anderson said. "I guess it will take about three days to get the soreness out and then he'll be all right."

The accident happened at Winter Haven, Fla., after Bench had doubled in the seventh inning of the game in which the Reds beat the Red Sox 7-5.

He stole third, but while sliding into the bag his leg went under the bag and he was cut by the spike that normally holds the bag on the foul line.

The Red Sox catcher threw wild on the play. Bench got up and scored.

The gash was discovered when he reached the Reds' dugout.

Veteran Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs was injured in another accident at Scottsdale, Ariz., he was stuck over the left tyre by a bad-hop grounder during infield practice prior to the Cubs-Oakland game won by the Cubs 9-8 in 10 innings.

Twelve stitches were needed to close a cut under Banks' eye and seven for one over the eye. Pending another examination there was no indication how long Banks would be out.

Juan Marichal, veteran right-hander for San Francisco, indicated his 1971 season will be better than last. He pitched six strong innings, yielding only four hits and fanning seven, as the Giants beat San Diego 5-1.

Elsewhere Minnesota handed the New York Yankees their 10th straight defeat, 9-2, and Pat Jarvis and Cecil Upshaw of Atlanta combined for a three-hit shutout as the Braves blanked Washington 3-0. The Braves scored all their runs in the first inning off Denny McLain.

In other games: California shaded Cleveland 6-5, Pittsburgh beat St. Louis 6-4, Detroit edged the New York Mets 5-4, Philadelphia defeated Kansas City 6-5, Milwaukee trimmed the Tokyo Lotte Orions 7-4 and Montreal shaded Houston 6-5 in 10 innings on Ron Brand's double that scored John O'Donoghue.

while Stan Albright, a former Ohio scholastic champ and Rick Rogers of Northwestern also are given strong shots at the high jump title.

Defending champs Herb Washington of Michigan State University and Olympian Willie Davenport are back in the 50 yard dash and the 50 yard high hurdles, respectively.

Tommy Turner, NCAA indoor 600 yard run winner last week in Detroit, is the favorite in the race here. He finished second to Martin McGrady in last year's meet.

Three-time meet mile winner Sam Blair, a former Kent State University star now with the Pacific Coast Club, will battle former KSU teammate Ken Dawson.

Two Unranked Teams Upset the Experts

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Two unranked teams given little chance to go all the way have surprised the experts and will meet for the NCAA College Division basketball championship tonight.

The windup in Roberts Stadium, which could break the final night attendance record of 13,062, sends the hometown Evansville Aces against Old Dominion.

Each team has a 21-8 record. The champion will get the dubious honor of having lost more games during the season than any other title winner since the tourney started here in 1957.

Five players scored in double figures Thursday night when Old Dominion ousted Kentucky Wesleyan, 97-83.

Randy Culling collected 24 points, Dave Twardzik added 17, Rick Nau 15, Skip Noble 14 and Steve Cox 11.

Wesleyan outrebounded the Monarchs 56-39, but made only 40 per cent of its floor shots as John Duncan and Jim Smith headed the attack with 23 and 22 points.

Evansville caught Southwestern's highly favored Bulldogs in a deep freeze as they hit only 32.5 per cent from the floor. After trailing 47-36 at the half, the sixth-ranked Bulldogs closed in 69-65 when they switched from a zone to a man to man defense. But the Aces opened up again and padded out the final 93-74 victory margin.

Evansville hit at a 48.9 rate of field goals and surprisingly matched the Cajuns' big musclemen under the boards. John Wellemeyer produced 24 points for the Aces, while Bob Clayton added 21 and Rick Coffey 20.

Field Events
Spotlight of Track Meet

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The two field events are expected to grab most of the spotlight at tonight's 31st Knights of Columbus track meet here, the last indoor meet of the season.

Four pole vaulters who have cleared 17 feet, 6 inches are entered, including Sweden's Kjell Isaksson, who soared 17 feet, 7 1/2 inches Feb. 12 in Los Angeles to set a world indoor mark at that time. His record was broken, however, a week ago when Germany's Wolfgang Nordwig jumped 17-8 1/2 in a German meet.

Other vaulters in the meet over that 17 feet, 6 inches are Jan Johnson, University of Alabama; Dick Railsback, national AAU indoor champion; and John Pennel, the American outdoor world record holder.

Eight defending meet champions and 15 former meet champs are in the field, including Mike Bowers of the Ann Arbor, Mich. Track Club, who won the high jump with a 6 feet, 10 inch leap last year.

However, Bowers will have to be at the top of his form to repeat the challenge of the four 7 foot high jumpers in the field.

Ron Jourdon of the Florida Track Club and Barry Shepard of the Pacific Coast Club have both leaped 7 feet, 2 inches.

Marquette Topped by Ohio State

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

UCLA wins again. The top-ranked Bruins, seeking their fifth straight national title, whacked Brigham Young 91-73. That was the only normal happening in the NCAA college basketball championship tournament Thursday night.

Elsewhere the carnage was terrific as Marquette, Kentucky, Notre Dame, South Carolina and Fordham went down in defeat and Kansas and Long Beach State barely averted disaster.

Coming to the fore were Ohio State, which snapped Marquette's 39-game winning streak 60-59; Western Kentucky, which routed Kentucky 107-83; Drake, which tripped Notre Dame 79-72 in overtime; Pennsylvania, which drubbed South Carolina 79-64, and Villanova which toppled Fordham 85-75.

Kansas just shaded Houston 78-77 and Long Beach State had to wipe out a 15-point deficit to beat U. of Pacific 78-65.

The results set up these quarter-final pairings Saturday:
At Raleigh, N.C.—Penn., 28-0, vs. Villanova, 25-6.

At Athens, Ga.—Western Kentucky, 22-5, vs. Ohio State, 20-5.

At Wichita, Kan.—Drake, 21-7, vs. Kansas, 26-1.

At Salt Lake City, Utah—UCLA, 26-1, vs. Long Beach State, 24-4.

Marquette seemed on the way to its 40th straight victory by taking a 13-point lead over Ohio State, but the Buckeyes kept battling back and came on to win after Dean Meminger, Marquette's star, fouled out with five minutes left.

A lay-up by sophomore Luther Witte put Ohio State ahead at 58-57 with about one minute left and two free throws by Alan Hornyak, another soph, with six seconds left sewed it up for the Buckeyes.

"They just beat us," commented Al McGuire, Marquette coach, after the game in the Midwest Regional at Athens, Ga. "They tightened up underneath and locked us out so we couldn't get lay-ups."

"Clemons did a good job on Meminger who didn't play his normal game," McGuire said. He referred to Jim Clemons, who led the Buckeyes with 21 points. Meminger scored only 11.

"Our kids were scared to death when the game started," said Ohio State Coach Fred Taylor. "They really hung in there when it seemed impossible."

Big Mac, the 7-foot Jim McDaniels, threw in 35 points to lead Western Kentucky in its rout of Kentucky at Athens in the first game ever played between the two schools.

"I never said anything to the boys, but I didn't have to," commented Johnny Oldham, coach of the Hilltoppers. "We don't play much better than we did. If we do, we'd better play in the pro NBA."

Adolph Rupp, veteran Kentucky coach, said, "We couldn't hold the ball and had trouble even getting in the right direction, but Johnny's team had a lot to do with that."

Austin Carr, who scored 26 points, sank a layup to put Notre Dame ahead of Drake with 90 seconds. But Al Sakys hit a jumper for the Bulldogs with four seconds left to tie the regulation game at 62-62.

Sakys put Drake ahead in the overtime at Wichita, Kan., and the Bulldogs stayed on top.

Maury John, Drake coach, paid tribute to Bobby Jones, who had asked to guard Carr. "I hesitated at first," John said, "but when a kid wants to guard someone that bad, I didn't hesitate long."

"It probably was the worst game we've had," commented Coach Johnny Dee in the gloomy Notre Dame dressing room. "Nobody played well. I thought we had won on Carr's five straight points near the end of regulation, but ..."

Dave Robish scored 29 points, including seven straight free throws in the last two minutes, as Kansas made it 20 in a row by shading Houston at Wichita. Penn. playing what Coach Dick Harter said "might be our best win ever," made it 28 straight and became the country's only major unbeaten team by defeating South Carolina at

Bob Bailey

PROSPECTUS: Surprisingly, Expos were not very active in trading during off-season. Only significant trade brought Ron Hunt from Giants. Rest of club is same group that Mets and Cubs found difficult to beat last year, but nobody else. Gene Mauch's goal is to get Expos out of last place. It doesn't look as if he's going to do it—not this year, anyway.

Rusty Staub

PITCHING—Carl Morton was National League Rookie of the Year by comfortable margin after an 18-11, 3.66 ERA season. But he wasn't only effective hurler. Steve Renko was 12-11 and could have done better with some timely hitting support. Rest of starters are Dan McGinn (7-10), Bill Stoneman (6-15) and Mike Wegener (3-6). Reliever Claude Raymond (6-7) also around. Rating: C+

CATCHING—John Bateman hit 15 home runs to salvage an otherwise disappointing .237 year for himself. Ron Brand is behind him. Rating: C

INFIELD—Ron Fairly, at first, hit .288 with 15 home runs and 82 RBIs. Gary Sutherland (.206) at second base will probably be replaced by Hunt, who hit .281 for Giants last year. Bobby Wine stays at short, despite .232 season. At third is Bob Bailey, coming off one of his best years: .287, 28 homers, 84 RBIs. Rating: B—

OUTFIELD—Rusty Staub is a fixture. Adolfo Phillips will get another chance in center field, despite .238 without last season. Two youngsters, Boots Day and Don Hahn may see action. Day hit .267 and Hahn .255 last year in part-time roles. Fairly can also play outfield with Jim Gosger (.263) taking his place at first. Rating: C

ROOKIES TO WATCH—Best of poor crop is Angelo Hermoso, 24, an infielder.

McGuire of Marquette Coach of Year

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Al McGuire, whose Marquette warriors won 39 straight games before losing to Ohio State, was named today as College Basketball Coach of the Year for 1971 by The Associated Press.

The native of New York City was an easy winner in the voting by 474 sports writers and sportscasters. McGuire was far in front with 227 votes to 76 for runner-up Bob Boyd of Southern California.

Johnny Wooden of UCLA, coach of the year for 1970 and 1969, finished third with 57 followed by Dick Phelps of Fordham with 16.

Johnny Dee of Notre Dame and the veteran Adolph Rupp of Kentucky tied for fifth at 13. Dean Smith of North Carolina and Ted Owens of Kansas tied for seventh at 12. Rounding out the Top Ten were Johnny Oldham of Western Kentucky with six and Ray Mears of Tennessee with four.

The rest of the balloting was widely scattered.

Dick Harter of Pennsylvania, John Orr of Michigan, Paul Westhead of LaSalle and Gene Bartow of Memphis State were bracketed at three each.

Tied at two were Norm Stewart of Missouri, Whack Hyder of Georgia Tech, Lou Henson of New Mexico State, Darrell Hedrick of Miami, Ohio, and Frank McGuire of South Carolina, no relation to Al. Fifteen others received one vote each.

Al McGuire, who played for the St. John's Redmen of New York 20 years ago and later for the pro New York Knicks, started his coaching career as an assistant at Dartmouth in 1954. He became head coach at Belmont Abbey in North Carolina in 1957 and took over at Marquette in 1965.

He had a losing 8-18 season that first year at Marquette, but since has reeled off winning campaigns of 14-12, 21-9, 23-6, 24-5, 26-3 and 27-1 this season.

It started last season. The Warriors won their last 12 games of the 1970 campaign, including the NIT championship in New York. They swept their first 27 games this season before losing to Ohio State on two free throws by Alan Hornyak in the last six seconds.

Heavies Get Call in Golden Gloves Meet

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Heavyweights get the call tonight in the 44th national Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions with fans hoping the big boys show the same thunderclap punches displayed by light-heavyweight Marvin Johnson of Indianapolis.

The unheralded Johnson boomed a right to the jaw of Thomas Giacobbe of Chicago to end his first bout at 1:31 in the first round Thursday night.

The crowd-pleasing Johnson did it again in his next bout, knocking out Dave Hill of Detroit in 48 seconds of the first round.

Ninety-seven bouts were unreeled in three rings at the Tarrant County Convention Center with a rubbernecking crowd of 10,262 in full-throated roar.

The bantamweights, lightweights, welterweights and middleweights join the heavies in action tonight.

Former champions who fought their way into the quarter finals were light welterweight Larry Bonds of Salt Lake City, light heavy weight Felton Woods of Grand Rapids, Mich., and light heavyweight Brooks Byrd of Roswell, N.M., fought their way into the quarterfinals. Byrd was the 1967 champion.

Margalo in 3rd Straight Victory

At the top of the stretch, Margalo opened up a four-length lead and had things her own way down the stretch.

Cornada pulled away from Show of Kings in the final strides to grab second money.

Jockey Lonnie Ray scored a winning double, riding This Little Piggy in the third and Everett's Delight in the fourth.

Bulls Lose, Yet Clinch Second Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The San Francisco Warriors won ... and the Chicago Bulls won despite losing.

The Warriors whipped the Bulls 91-85 Thursday night to nail a second-place playoff berth in the National Basketball Association's Pacific Division.

And despite the loss, Chicago clinched second in the Midwest when the New York Knicks tripped Phoenix 131-123 in overtime.

In the night's only other NBA game, Seattle defeated Milwaukee 122-121.

In the American Basketball Association, it was Utah 124, Denver 123.

Jeff Mullins scored five points in less than a minute to pace San Francisco's success in the closing moments.

Paced by center Nate Thurmond, who scored 29 points, the Warriors took a 53-36 halftime edge. Bob Love and Bob Weiss brought the Bulls to within one, 78-77, with 2:01 left in the final period before Mullins' hot hand got the winners in front 83-77.

Mullins scored 29 points and Love led the losers with 20.

Willis Reed's two quick baskets at the start of overtime gave New York the victory that eliminated Phoenix from second-place contention.

A big second quarter put the Suns on top by nine points at halftime. But Bill Bradley scored 11 points and Walt Frazier, 9, to bring the Knicks back into contention.

Connie Hawkins led all scorers with 35 points for Phoenix. Dick Barnett contributed 30 for New York.

Milwaukee lost its first of six meetings with Seattle despite a 39-point show by Lew Alcindor. Spencer Haywood scored 27 points for Seattle.

Zelmo Beaty hit a 20-foot jumper with nine seconds remaining for Utah's victory. The Stars stumbled through the first three periods before moving ahead five minutes into the final quarter on two foul shots by Willie Wise, who got 12 of his 22 points in the last stanza.

Laver, Okker Survive Semifinals

NEW YORK (AP) — Neither Rod Laver nor Tom Okker thinks he played well, but both survived the semifinals to reach the $50,000 final tonight of the Tennis Champions Classic at Madison Square Garden.

Laver had a rough match Thursday night against Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., as he committed seven double faults. His opponent had eight double faults, however, as the Australian lefthander won 6-3, 6-4, 7-5.

Okker of The Netherlands had problems with both his serve and opponent Australian Roy Emerson before a 6-4, 2-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 victory.

Laver has won 12 straight matches in the $210,000 competition for a total purse of $125,000. He and Okker took $15,000 for semifinal victories, with $35,000 the big prize in the final.

KILLS BILL TO BAN HOSTILES
RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Gov. Linwood Holton has vetoed a bill recently approved by the state legislature which would have banned potential troublemakers—students or nonstudents—from state college campuses.

Announcing Wednesday that he approved the general purpose of the measure, Holton said he vetoed it on the advice of the state attorney general that it was unconstitutional.
Atty. Gen. Andrew P. Miller said the bill would have given "unscrupulous officials free rein to trample on First Amendment guarantees,"

U.S. Priests Favor Choice on Marriage

BALTIMORE (AP) — An organization representing 60 per cent of the Roman Catholic clergy in the United States adopted a resolution today urging that priests be given a choice between celibacy and marriage.

The resolution was passed 193 to 18 by the House of Delegates of the National Federation of Priests Councils after five hours of debate which ran into the early morning hours.

If the proposal were to become Church law, it would permit priests who presently are celibate to take wives, and would open the way for priests who have left the ministry to marry to resume the religious life.

The federation represents 35,000 of the nation's 59,000 Roman Catholic clerics.

It is expected that the resolution will come up at an international synod of bishops called by Pope Paul VI for Sept. 23 following the resignation of some 25,000 priests in the past seven years, many in protest against the rule of

IF YOUR WAY IS DARK

ASK GOD FOR LIGHT

Americanism

Liberty, as proclaimed by law and constitutions, can never have full meaning without the added ingredients of Fraternity and Brotherhood; without the spirit of friendliness and unselfishness... love for one's fellows. Those powerful qualifying attributes help spell out what Americanism is.

When one sees a family unit, parents and children, with Bibles in hand, attending church to worship as they please... then one is witnessing Liberty in its finest and most fullsome forms, for that, too, is American. Freedom of religious worship... is equally important, along with economic freedom and freedom from oppression, in America. Then worship God as you please but be sure to worship... that is Americanism.

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Manager Alvin Dark calls his problems with the Cleveland Indians this spring "picking out the pitchers."

Left-hander Sam McDowell, the 20-game winner of 1970, and right-hander Steve Hargan, who posted a 10-1 record last year after being recalled from the minors, head the hurling staff.

After that pair, however, a wide open race exists for the starting jobs.

"I'm not even going to worry about the bullpen until after I get the starting pitcher situation straightened out," says the skipper.

Dark's young club of 1970 finished fifth in the American League's East with a 76-86 record but he points out the team was just two games off a .500 pace the latter part of August. A series of injuries then took their toll.

"Experience will take care of a lot of improvement this season," Dark asserts. "The only thing uncertain about this club is the pitching staff."

He doesn't mean that each and every position is set, but most of them are. In center field, young Buddy Bradford battles the veteran Ted Uhlaender for the starting job.

Bradford and Roy Foster, the man slated for left field, each came to the Indians last season. So did veteran Vada Pinson, the right fielder who led the 1970 club in hits with 164 and RBI with 62.

Ken Harrelson, who broke his leg in spring training a year ago, returns to first base. Tony Horton, who played first much of the time, has been hospitalized with emotional problems.

Eddie Leon is back at second base and it appears 21-year-old Jack Heidemann will handle shortstop with Graig Nettles at third.

"We should have one of the best fielding infields in the league," says Dark.

Ray Fosse, the All-Star catcher, hit .307 for the Indians last season, and commands so much respect that the Indians list only him and Ken Suarez on their catching roster.

Handyman Chuck Hinton hit .318 a year ago and defensively worked in the outfield, at third base, first base and catcher.

The utility infielder could be one of three youngsters—Lou Camilli, Harold Hodge or John Lowenstein and each of them can play third, short or second.

Dark acquired right-handed pitchers Alan Foster and Ray Lamb from the Los Angeles Dodgers in exchange for catcher Duke Sims. Those two hurlers have chances to win spots in the starting rotation.

So do Steve Dunning, the right-hander who graduated from Stanford University onto the Cleveland roster last year, and Rich Hand, who had only one prior year of organized baseball prior to his 1970 season with the Indians.

Dunning was 4-9 and Hand 6-13 for their first season in the majors. Mark Ballinger, who played at Reno in the California League, gets Dark's attention this spring.

"He can throw the ball hard and he's coming fast," Dark continued. "His 9-8 record wasn't too impressive, but look at his strikeout record."

Ballinger, who stands 6-foot-6, fanned 180 batters in 147 innings.

Mike Paul, a left-hander, and Jim Rittwage also are battling for jobs on the staff. Of the latter, Dark recalls, "He pitched for me last September and he looked good then."

Paul pitched last winter in the Mexican League which could be to his advantage this spring.

So far, Dark has only definitely designated Steve Mingori and Dennis Higgins for bullpen duty. McDowell, the American League's strikeout king the past three seasons, was 20-12 last season, the first in his career when he's hit the 20 mark.

That performance wasn't as surprising as that of Hargan, who was off to such a bad start in 1970 that on June 9 he was optioned to Wichita. He came back on July 16. Of his 10 victories from then on, eight were complete games.

To Wait for the Trouble to Begin

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — Blazing Porsches and Ferraris will huffoot for the lead in the 12 hours of Sebring while the "patience first" Alfa Romeos settle back and wait for trouble. The other fellow's trouble. That's the opinion of a young Italian making his first start in the granddaddy of America's endurance races.

"When the frontrunners begin to burn out, we hope to be there to take over," said Andrea de Adamich. "Our main objective is to have all three Alfas finish the 12 hours."

Alfa Romeo is picky about what events it enters on the international racing circuit. The Milan factory skipped the 24 Hours of Daytona last month.

"We favor races where acceleration isn't the top item," said the 30-year-old De Adamich.

Acceleration, by contrast, is transported Italian Marion Andretti's middle name.

The Bethlehem, Pa., speedster cracked his own single lap qualifying record Thursday in a three-liter Ferrari he had never seen before coming to Sebring.

Driving as a team with Belgium's brilliant Jacky Ickx, Andretti hit 122.778 miles an hour in a blistering turn around the aging 5.1-mile Sebring course.

Second fastest qualifier was Roger Penske's Ferrari driven by England's David Hobbs at 121.835, also better than Andretti's pole-winning speed of just over 121 last spring.

A John Wyer-built Porsche under the command of Britisher Vic Elford did 120.922, third best among the first-day pack at the sun-splashed raceway.

4 YEAR TERM

(From Page One)

The House-Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee, the House decided Thursday before the vote on the amendment to remove the four-year term for representatives and county officials.

The vote on the amendment, as reflected by the House voting machine, was 52-24 before opponents asked for a poll of the House and the votes of three representatives were cast out because the three were not in the chamber at the time of the poll.

Several opponents of the amendment based their opposition on a provision that would keep the governor from serving successive four-year terms, although he could serve more than one term if they were non-successive.

The House refused to allow Rep. N. B. "Nap" Murphy of Hamburg to offer an amendment to allow the governor to serve back-to-back terms.

Rep. W. E. Beaumont of Little Rock, opposing the amendment, said the one-term limitation would make a governor a "lame duck" on the first day he took office.

The amendment would increase the authorized salary of the governor from $10,000 to $25,000 a year. Other salary increases would be lieutenant governor from $2,500 to $7,500, attorney general from $6,000 to $15,000 and secretary of state, state treasurer, auditor and land commissioner from $5,000 to $12,500.

The House voted 68-13 to pass the bill to exempt women hospital employees from state wage and hour provisions after Rep. John Bethell of Des Arc, the author said he would agree to an amendment when the bill reaches the Senate to exempt only professional personnel from the law.

As passed by the House, the bill would exempt both professional and nonprofessional employees, although hospitals would continue to be required to comply with the federal Fair Labor Standards Act, which has less stringent overtime provisions for women than the state law.

J. Bill Becker, president of the Arkansas State AFL-CIO, told the representatives in a letter circulated before the vote that his organization opposed the bill on grounds that it would leave no state protection for women hospital employees.

"There are many protective female labor laws much better than federal law and, in our opinion, the women in the state still need Arkansas law to safeguard their rights," Becker wrote.

Under the state law, women must be paid overtime for work in excess of eight hours a day regardless of whether they work 40 hours a week. Under the federal law, overtime does not apply until after the 40th hour of work in a week.

Rep. Julian Streett of Camden promised the House that he would draw an amendment to be offered in the Senate that would continue state protection of unskilled hospital workers, but which would exempt women doctors, nurses, interns, managerial and supervisory personnel, technicians and other women licensed by the state to work in a hospital.

Streett said the hospitals needed relief from the state law because interns and nurses often were called on to work more than eight hours a day.

Becker said he opposed the bill even if the amendment were added. He said he did not agree that licensed practical nurses, technicians and women required to be licensed by the state should be exempt from state coverage.

The Senate, in approving the state revenue allocation to the Arts Center, erased the record of the failure of the bill Wednesday on a vote of 23-7, four votes short of the number required for approval.

Objections had been raised Wednesday that the legislature should not award state money to anything other than a state agency.

The House amended the Aeronautics Department appropriation bill to delete a requirement that the director must have a multi-engine commercial pilot's license. The amendment was offered by Rep. John Pledge of Little Rock, who said the reganized crime, but said "work will have to be done in other areas of the country" to determine whether similar situations exist elsewhere.

Bechtle said a federal grand jury in Philadelphia, where the Penn Central has headquarters, would begin looking into the case Wednesday and would call in records from other firms. He did not identify the other companies.

He said no arrests had been made, adding that he did not know whether criminal prosecutions would result.

"Everything is sketchy and incomplete," he said.

One of the sketchy elements is a firm known as Diversified Properties, mentioned in court documents filed when the FBI obtained search warrants to inspect the LaSalle railroad premises.

A Joseph C. Bonnano, not otherwise identified, was named as a director of Diversified the court papers.

An informant said mail from Magna Earth frequently was sent to a Joseph C. Bonnano in an unnamed city in New Jersey.

The general manager of Magna Earth, Anthony Crisafi, recently moved to the LaSalle area from Paramus, N.J. His wife said he is in New Jersey "confering with someone."

"We have nothing to do with them," said Cinotto. "We rent them office and shop space. We don't even know who Magna Earth is."

Lindsey Town, secretary in the Magna Earth office, said the firm employs about 10 persons in LaSalle. She said she did not know who owned the firm or anything about its origin.

The discovery of the missing cars was made by auditors of the financially distressed Penn Central, the nation's largest railroad.

Robert Ozer, a task force attorney at Philadelphia, said a preliminary study of LaSalle's records showed that 215 of the stolen cars were put on the tracks of other railroads after repainting "so as to purport to be owned by LS&PC."

Ozer said that on 182 of the cars the serial numbers had been obliterated.

There was no official explanation of how a freight car can disappear or be stolen.
